DESCRIPTION OF THE BOOK MANSTOPPER

This very thorough book on training a protection dog builds from understanding protection work to training, being an agitator, evaluating temperament, and more. Safety is emphasized throughout. It is fun, exciting, compelling reading, even if protection work is not a goal but simply a fascination. Joel McMains is a professional dog trainer with a background in canine applications for law enforcement. Joel's other Howell titles are Dog Logic, Advanced Obedience: Easier Than You Think, Kennels and Kenneling, Dog Training Projects

STOPPING POWER - WIKIPEDIA

Wow!! That's the perfect word to describe this book. From title to end 'Manstopper' is one powerhouse read. As you may have guessed (you will after seeing the cover) this book is about a couple of killer dogs (so called Manstoppers) who escape after a lunatic hijacks the truck that carries them. I've read several of this author's books, and story time with Joel is always my favorite part. I was delighted to find the majority of this book was the equivalent of story time as the author called up specific examples via training sessions with dogs, and dissected exactly what had happened. The 455 Webley was, and is, a good manstopper at close range, and very probably accounted for more knockdowns during WWI than any other handgun round. But it was not by any means the most effective round of its time. With equal projectiles, it'd be hard to argue for one or the other, as a manstopper. A good bullet in 9mm will work, too, at defensive ranges, though I suppose that a big .45 or a slam-bang .357 will do better as a stopper if your attacker is hopped up on PCP or something. Different breeds of Dogs compete to be the ultimate Manstopper (protection dog) The .357 Magnum is recognized as the best man stopper when loaded with the 125 grain semi jacketed hollow point bullets.
